

This Did Not Just Happen

As I lay inside your arms
My head upon your chest and heart
My mind drifts back to when we met
That's one spring night I won't forget

I was foiled and well worn out
All thoughts of lasting love in doubt
In fact, our date was no big deal
The most I hoped for was a decent meal

But as we talked all my blood was rushing
All my sense bloomed
Hours flew by as we both were gushing
It ended all too soon
And I was up half the night thinking
This did not just happen

I held back, so damned sure
All would crumble like before
But you held up like so few guys
Your gentle soul a sweet surprise

And I thought there were no new emotions
My old heart could yield
But your kiss stirred a sweet commotion
A rush of hope to feel
And heaven's hand was somewhere near
'Cause this did not just happen

Ups and downs, good and bad
Have come and passed to bring this night
One proposal, a diamond ring
A man has won his wife

And I think back to what it took
Acceptance, understanding, luck
So much giving, a lot of work
Yeah, this did not just happen

And God's own part can't be overlooked
For, this did not just happen...

© imposter X
All rights reserved

www.imposterx.com